Among The Worst of The Worst

THE OF THE HOLIDAY INN, GOLDEN MILE :

IT IS A CANDIDATE FOR THE WORST OF THE WORST

While Mr Hari Harilela, the beneficial owner of the Holiday Inn, Golden Mile, Tsimshatsui, may receive accolades from certain organisations for the making of money from the running, or having been partially responsible for the running, of a 'something' star hotel in the Hongkong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR) of the People's Republic of China (PRC), TARGET is laying odds that Mr Hari Harilela will never receive any award for culinary excellence.

But that is to be expected – because, aside from chapattis and curry, it is unlikely that Mr Hari Harilela knows very much more about food.

Although, by the look of his belly, one would think that he should have learned something about food over his 80-odd years of life.

The Avenue Restaurant, located at the Holiday Inn, Golden Mile, is proof of TARGET assertions about this aging gentleman's lack of knowledge of culinary excellence.

At one time, the Holiday Inn, Golden Mile, sported one of the best food outlets in the HKSAR.

That was the time that Baron's Table was the pride of this hotel, however.

That Alsatian/German food outlet has long been closed, following one chef after another, ruining what was, in the early days of this hotel, a great place to eat and drink; and, to be served by well-trained staff.

Today, in its place is The Avenue, a restaurant that has a touch of Indian flavours, mixed with ... nothing.

To summarise TARGET's experience of this nothing restaurant: It is, simply, terrible ... CLICK TO ORDER FULL ARTICLE
