MASS, SPACE AND TIME

The So Very Little We Know: Man Has Much To Learn

It is well accepted, today, that mass, space and time are related to one another.

It is one of the essential rules that has been found, tested, and fully accepted in respect of aspects of the universe, thanks to the work of Albert Einstein's theory of general relativity.

Scientist, today, are attempting to discover much more of that which must be the rules of the universe – for they must exist, it is well accepted.

Today, it is well known that the collapse of formerly giant stars in the universe, for one reason or another, is one or more of the reasons for the creation of black holes in regions of space.

A black hole is defined as being regions in space that gravity, just beneath its surface – named formerly as 'event horizon,' is sufficiently strong that nothing – not even light – can escape.

At the centre of a black hole — it has been given the nomenclature, 'singularity,' — but scientists, the world over, have little information of this point, being infinitively small and infinitively dense.

Scientists are well aware that they know very little about the universe, how stars are created and, seemingly, how stars 'die,' and why and how, try as they may, it might be many billions of eons for them ever to learn how giant stars were — and are — created — as we know them, today — and what, if any, there are life forms — as we know them in man's thinking, today — on some or the many millions of stars, about which they know absolutely nothing.

Many of the aspects, mentioned above — and there must be many more aspects, of course — might be likened to that which many world-be loquacious scientists and economists try to make seemingly determinations which, to some degree, seem to have quintessential aspects, whereas that which they make claims that, to a very great degree, are, at best, garrulous.

The following are some of the aspects about which man acknowledges in that which are thought to be today's great pool of man's simplicity knowledge, compared to that of the empty void of the universe yet to be understood.

Part Twenty-Two

THE LIFE AND LOVES OF PRESIDENT ELECT DONALD JOHN TRUMP

The loves and lusts of Mr Donald John Trump, presently the elected President of the most powerful country of the world, today, first and foremost, has been able to obtain vast amounts of various currencies throughout the world in exchange for goods and services, being second to be able to control those that which nobody could question as might be.

As the present President, he is known to have aggregated tens of billions of American dollars on a way that nobody could question.

One of the first many determinations that President Donald John Trump caused to suggest to the world (of his) was that which came to be known as 'Liberation Day', and the 'liberation' for President Trump has causes to many of the companies as well as many types of corporate entities, some under his control, directly or indirectly, which turned out to be cash in the cashbox for D.J.T.

Pocket Brokerage Accounts for President Donald John Trump for his ever well-fatted glee club, caused him to obtain more than 21,000 trades in 2025 with the assistance, ofttimes undercover surveillance people as well questionable insiders.

For those, who had been successful in their duties of that which the President determined, which was often a daily activity (when it was deemed to help fatten the pockets of the President) they were seen to have had very busy times.

One could only surmise that those gentlemen/ladies (suggestive), who more active helpers were, most likely, took a little for themselves for their pockets.

Which would be only fair, all things considered, one could easily surmise.

In April 2025, President Trump was, right or wrong, said to have been one of the singular causes that drove financial markets into that which tuned out to be somewhat of a tailspin, causing thousands of investors, many of which, in due time, became shell-shocked.

Attempts to try, many of an investor could not find remedies for the helpless collapses into failure from the fallout of certain financial situations.

That was due to most investors could hardly understand that which they were caused to be part of seemingly corrective situations.

President Trump's money managers were kept extremely busy in respect of trades in the ups and downs of certain financial markets, especially on April 3, 2025; and, then, with the morning glory of April 4, following President Trump's determinations with regard to newly global tariffs.

These newly global tariffs were announced in the Rose Garden of The White House.

On or about July 1, 2026, President Donald Trump caused to make clear statements as to his suggestive facts that most of his invested decisions were due to well-thought-out investment determinations, most of which had been reported in 2025, or thereabout.

He made it very obvious that he only profited his pocket due to the spiralling stock market's rises on various stock exchanges.

Due to his correct considerations, which were very rarely wrong, President Trump made significantly large amounts of money, especially in the 2025-financial year, more than in the prior 2024-fisical year, amounting to about $US1.20 billion in cryptocurrency-related income.

He would make very clear statements in respect of numerous disclosures as to his incomes' facts.

Many of the many questions, uttered from individuals, seated in chairs in front of him when he allowed them to raise their hands while he was trying to speak at a time, that he was about to answer questions, included:

'I do not get involved in my personal – we have funds that run my money,'

The President brushed off numerous questions from various parties, seated in the hall, stating that the amounts of money that he had rightfully earned had been due to the resultant of which were secreted into the pockets of the President.

He made statements to the seated ladies and gentlemen in the hall, that his many investment decisions had been made mostly by the results of information from outside parties, and/or from those parties from whom he had been able to obtain information.

The President was asked about a number of many things from the seated people, listening to his iterations, during being questioned.

He stated to numerous questions as follows:

> 'Well, I've made a lot of money before I became President; and they invest my money. And I don't talk to them. I don't like to talk to them, they're big institutions, and they run it.'

In closing, the President stated:

> 'I don't know what they (the big institutions) call (themselves) – closed accounts or something.'

And, then, he went on to state:

> 'I don't know if I've had a better career in politics or business?'

In the 2025 Financial Year, President Donald Trump pocketed somewhere in the region of at least $US2.24 billion, based on that which he said were statements, coined as 'employment assets,' and income that he had disclosed.

That amount of money that the President 'earned', compared with at least $US622 million, reported in the 2024 Financial Year, before he returned to the White House.

THE WAR WITH IRAN

On April 1, 2026, President Trump announced the United States' strategic objectives in the war with Iran.

On February 28, 2026, Ali Khamenei, the former Supreme Leader of Iran, had been assassinated in an Israeli air attack.

On March 1, 2026, the IRGC-controlled Fars News Agency announced that Khamenei's daughter, son-in-law, grandchild, and daughter-in-law, Zahra Hadded-Adel, had also been killed.

The Iranian Government declared 40 days of mourning.

It is generally believed that actions had been caused and determined by parties at The Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps (IRGC).

Aside of the above known deaths, the Iranian Minister Aziz Nasirzadeh, as well as four top Ministry of Intelligence officials, had been killed – outright.

Aside from the above-mentioned, Salah Asadi, the Head of the intelligence for Iran's Emergency Command, Mohammad Shirazi, Head of Khamenei's military office, Hossein Jabal Amelian, Iranian IRGC Brigadier-General, Reza Mozaffari Nia, Head of Organisation of Defensive Innovation and Research (SPND), Abdolrahim Mousavi, Chief of Staff of the Islamic Republic of Iran Armed Forces, were amongst the 40 officials, killed, as reported by intelligence and military sources.

As at March 13, 2026, Israel Defence Forces (IDF) had estimated that between 3,000 and 4,000 Iranian soldiers, as well as a top commander, had been killed.

On March 17, 2026, Israel was said to have assassinated Ali Larijani, Secretary of Iran's Supreme National Security Council (SNSC).

IRGC Commander Mohmmad Pakpour and Defence Council Ali Shamkhani had been reported dead by late March.

By March 18, 2026, the Hengaw Organisation for Human Rights estimated that 5,300-plus members of the Iranian military had been killed.

On March 31, 2026, Iran International announced that not less than about 4,700 security forces had been killed – outright.

Then, on or about April 6, 2026, the head of the IRGC Intelligence, Major General Majid Khadimi, had been assassinated in a joint US-Israeli airstrike.

As at April 7, 2026, Human Rights Activists News Agency (HRANA) in Iran, a US-based, non-governmental organisation, reported 3,636 documented war deaths, included 1,701 civilians, 1,221 military personnel, and 714 unclassified parties.

Many US military bases near Iran were rendered 'all but uninhabitable' due to many Iranian air strikes.

Within the war's first two weeks, some of the US military bases had been hit hard due to the strikes from Iran's poundings.

Within the war's first two weeks, Iran's attacks caused $US800 million in damage to US bases.

By May 2026, the United States of America had lost 39 aircraft in 'Operation Epic Fury.'

A number of members of the US Congress could not have been very happy on learning the above-statistics. But there one has it: War is war; nevertheless.
